

"BY FAITH ALONE" - HE LED THE NATIONS ASTRAY

The Return of Satan

Martin Luther was perhaps the most important individual in the advancement of the Reformation and construction of the Protestant sect of Christianity. There's much evidence though that points to the Protestant sect having been not established nor inspired by God, but truly the work of the Devil, the adversary of God, himself.

[Rev 20:1-3] Then I saw an angel coming down from Heaven, having the key of the bottomless pit, and upon his arm he carried a great chain. He laid hold of the Dragon--the ancient serpent--who is the Devil and the Adversary, and bound him for a thousand years, and hurled him into the bottomless pit. He closed the entrance and put a seal upon him in order that he might be unable to lead the nations astray any more until the thousand years were at an end. Afterwards he is to be set at liberty for a short time.

His time is now complete.

One thousand years after Armenia became the first country to adopt Christianity as its official religion circa AD 301, the Catholic church had grown up and become filled with errors and turmoil leading to the first Western Schism circa 1300 AD. Many parts of the initial foundation of the church were correct though, and aside from the veneration of Mary superseding that of Jesus, the worship of images, etc., there are actually still many Biblical concepts that the Catholic church was built on that still hold true today. One of those is "fides caritate formata".

"Fides caritate formata" or "faith formed by benevolence" can be verified as a truly Christian stance when compared to this scripture:

(Gal 5:6) For in Christ Jesus neither circumcision availeth any thing nor uncircumcision: but faith that worketh by agape [charity, benevolence, love].

Circa 1500 though, Martin Luther rose up, turned the original church stance of "fides caritate formata" around to "caritas fide formata" (benevolence formed by faith). A doctrine that has no Gospel match, but would later emerge as a means to meet his own theological agenda. The Word of God says:

(1Jn 3:6) No one who continues in union with Him lives in sin: no one who lives in sin has seen Him or knows Him.

Luther's agenda though was one to embrace and practically celebrate sin, as you'll soon see in the comments below. So much so that during his lifetime it was said of him by some in the Catholic church that he was "Satan himself under the semblance of a man in a monk's hood."

The Apostle Peter said of the Apostle Paul that: [2Pe 3:15-16]... Paul's writings are often hard to understand, which the ignorant and unstable twist to their own destruction, as they do the other Scriptures.

It's evident today, that Luther took every opportunity he could to take Paul's sometimes hard to understand writings, turn the truth of God upside down, make works nothing, and make a mere belief in Jesus all you need for God to approve of you and bestow eternal life upon you regardless of how sinful a life you continue to live. A true work of Satan.

Even more forthright in his deceit and the promulgation of his own agenda. Here's an example of the Protestant theology that Luther created in falsehood.

The Book of James clearly says:

(James 2:24) You see that a person is considered righteous by what they do, and not by faith alone.

Luther though purposely sought to change the truth of the Word of God.

"Luther added the word "alone" (allein in German) to Romans 3:28 controversially so that it read: "So now we hold, that man is justified without the help of the works of the law, alone through faith"[8] The word "alone" does not appear in the Greek texts,[9] but Luther defended his translation by maintaining that the adverb "alone" was required both by idiomatic German and the apostle Paul's intended meaning." (Ref: http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Luther\_Bible#Theology)

This is what Martin Luther himself said about his Word of God addition:

"If your Papist annoys you with the word sola (alone), tell him this, 'Dr. Martin Luther will have it so: Papist and ass are one and the same thing.'" (Martin Luther, On Translating: An Open Letter, 1530)"

Although there's truly no need for me to address such an ungodly comment in relation to his false work, I will entertain it anyway, in truth.

If Paul had meant, "alone", he would have said "alone". As in Romans 4:23:

(Rom 4:23) NowG1161 it was notG3756 writtenG1125 for his sakeG1223 G846 alone,G3440 thatG3754 it was imputedG3049 to him;G846

monon

Neuter of G3441 as adverb; merely: - alone, but, only.

Paul did not use "alone" in Ro 3:28 because that is not what Paul intended. It is what Luther's intention to insert it though, in an effort to create a Bible that matched his ungodly philosophy; that a man must do nothing in life, but have some mere belief that Jesus existed.

It's no wonder why Luther despised the Book of James:

""St. James' epistle is really an epistle of straw, compared to these others, for it has nothing of the nature of the gospel about it." (Martin Luther, Preface to the New Testament)"

Martin Luther promoted his agenda using the the citizens' displeasure with the awry acts of the officials in the Catholic church. To propagate his new doctrine, Martin Luther then used the advent of the printing press as an opportunity to create his own unique German Bible. The displeasure that had grown with church leaders at the time truly assisted in his German revision of the Bible spread like wildfire throughout Germany first, then all Europe and now the world (with most translations being a derivative of his in sort).

That was the beginning of the deception that has swept the nations and has now built the world's largest sect in Christianity – Protestantism.
